

Are nominals ever able to be the predicate of a clause, without special predicative morphosyntax and with a predictable copula-like meaning?

- no
- yes