

If there are at least two possession classes, is there at least one conceptually non-possessible class?

