

If the language has glottalized obstruents, does it also have a phonemic distinction between glottalized and non–glottalized fricatives?

