

Does the language have a phonemic distinction between velar and uvular plosives?

