

Does the language have a phonemic I which alternates only with laterals and glides?

