

Does the language have a phonemic distinction between velar and uvular continuants?

