If S is ever marked differently than A in indexing or flagging (i.e. if <yes> to either Align−09 or Align−10), is there a difference in marking according to an active/stative distinction among monovalent predicates (in either indexing or flagging)?

● no

● yes